

Sisolona

When the rocks were still young and the earth still soft, Atuf called forth the spirit of his beloved wife, Silolona, to join him on his journey to the sun. With his magical spear Atuf shattered the sun and created the constellations making the world a safer place for all mankind.

Sacred chant from Tanimbar Island

sisolona

The traveler who has eyes to see occupies a world as fresh as the first day and just as full of wonders.

*"...and suddenly a puff of wind, faint, tepid and laden with strange odours of blossoms comes out of the still night
- the first sigh of the East on my face."*

Joseph Conrad

A man who does not travel will never have the experience to use his knowledge nor will he understand the beauty mirrored by art.

S*ilolona*, truly a modern classic sailing vessel was built to the demanding high standards of German Lloyds register of shipping. No expense has been spared to ensure that discerning travelers, accustomed to understated elegance and exquisite cuisine, discover an agreeable mode of transportation from which to admire the majestic scenery, underwater wonders and fascinating artistic expression found along the fabled spice routes of South East Asia.

Travel is the art of living life outside the boundaries established by small minds which live and die without ever experiencing the art of living.

Authentic colors, textures, and styles derived from the cultures they embody endow each of the five suites with a relaxed yet distinctive atmosphere. Spacious bathing facilities are tastefully integrated into the décor providing in a gracious well considered manner those amenities so essential to a comfortable standard of living.

The Asmat Suite

Named for one of the fabled Spice Islands, and decorated with original art from that island's culture, each meticulously appointed suite is a spacious dwelling unique unto itself.

The Bali Suite

How can a place be condensed to mere scenery or people be defined by plain words?

Exquisite culinary delights make every meal an adventure in fine taste. Explore the exotic tropical cuisine or enjoy your old favorites carefully prepared from the finest fresh ingredients exactly to your taste.

How can a traveler write of what he felt, smelled, and tasted along the route?

How can one predict those fortunate times when deep in the unknown an exotic beauty sensually stimulates the creative process?

It is then that I must paint or draw what my poor eye tries desperately to capture knowing that it is but a fleeting moment which will soon fade into a memory.

A cloud drifts

A ship fills her sails

Once more life is new

Memory is a wistful smile
